

MISS ELSSHOW, LOCKWOOD ARMY LIFE GAY 'THE LANDLOPER'

Camp Cody's Entertainers
Offer a Lot of Features
That Will Please.

That soldier life in an army camp need not be as dull as it is sometimes portrayed will be amply demonstrated when the boys in Camp Cody, N. M., don the hunt-cork and gala costumes of minstrelsy at the Texas Grand theater Saturday and Sunday. After having successfully entertained thousands of their "audience" at Cody and several thousands of other soldiers and civilians at Silver City, Santa Rita and Fort Bayard, the comedians and singers of the "Standard" division are coming here to show El Paso that army life isn't made up exclusively of drills and maneuvers and "kitchen police."

Excellent Minstrel Troupe.
And if the army life of El Paso is any indication, El Paso and Fort Bliss will turn out in holiday fashion to welcome this extraordinary minstrel troupe, which 10 performers have been unanimously declared to be the best aggregation of soldier entertainers ever assembled in this country. More than that, thousands who have seen the Camp Cody Minstrel, declare that it is the best minstrel troupe that has played in the southwest in years.

Schneeman Is Magician.
Director Jack Schneeman has unearthed some of the finest vaudeville talent at Cody. There is Al Schneeman, who was well known on the vaudeville circuit as a magician, who rivalled the Great Harlow before he laid aside his mysterious art to become a private in an ambulance company. Schneeman will give the same act with which he played the Orpheum circuit for years. His performance is not only mystifying but entertaining. He always keeps his audience laughing continuously at his pranks and tricks.

Costume Artist, Juggler, Singer.
Then there is Earl de Lapp, a professional entertainer who has made a name for himself in all sorts of shows and Hugh Hall, who juggles anything from a feather to a cannon wheel. Harry Lander is now over in France entertaining the boys in the trenches, but El Paso will see his foremost imitator in private John Brodie, direct from "Bonnie Scotland," who twirls his "v" and wears kilts like a true Scotchman.

Has Coffee Can Musician.
One of the most interesting specialty entertainers is private Elmer Allen, who originally intended to become a violinist, but contrived a knack of getting music out of coffee boxes, tin cans and other things, and who will show that there are other uses for Play Adapted From Holman Day's Novel, to Be at Unique Tomorrow.

Those who see Harold Lockwood in his latest starring vehicle, "The Landloper," an adaptation of Holman Day's novel of the same name at the Unique tomorrow, will have an opportunity to view the beauties of Palm Beach, Florida, for a number of scenes in "The Landloper" were photographed at that famous Florida winter resort. The scenes made in Palm Beach are those in which Walker Parr (Harold Lockwood) figures when as a young man of wealth, he wanders that he can assume the role of a knight of the highway for three months and thus prove to himself that any man can find happiness, no matter what his station in life may be. The wagger is depicted and Parr begins the journey which hegets him the title of the landloper. Parr proves his theory, but not before he has been the center of a white-hot romance and adventure, which gives the story its interest.

"The Landloper" is a colorful story of adventure and romance and is a most unusual role. The show starts at 11:30, 12:30, 2:15, 4:30, 5:45, 7:15 and 9:30—Ad.

ALHAMBRA—VIVIAN MARTIN.
Vivian Martin, as Betty Burke, is making a big success in "Unclaimed Goods." Betty Burke was the daughter of a western sheriff. Upon being called upon to make a ransom sure of the comfort of his child, he decides to send her to visit relatives in a mining town. The gold rush prevents her being able to secure accommodations on the passenger train. At the same time, she is being pursued by a band of outlaws, and she must not venture out to receive her. The express agent is very hospitable, but a gambler, "Clementine Joe," wants the girl and bids $500 for her as "unclaimed goods." A young gunman whom Betty has befriended comes to her aid. The story, of course, has a happy ending. You'll enjoy seeing your favorite and laughing at the humorous situations which arise in this wonderful little hit—Ad.

which an old coffee can can be put besides being turned into a cup.
The biggest laugh of all will be forthcoming when corporals Jack Doyle and Frank Warren take the stage dressed in the garb of Hawaiians and proceed to give the audience a version of the well known Hawaiian dance that would make Toots Paika and Ann Pennington envious. All arrangements for the coming of the Cody Minstrel men are not complete and everything points to a most successful engagement. The troupe will arrive early Saturday morning and will give its first performance on Saturday afternoon.

Expert Arizona Cotton Grower Released From Army to Manage Ranch

Phoenix, Ariz., April 25.—Charles V. Darden, who has been in the military service since last September, and who is now in the Arizona regiment at Camp Kearney, is to be exempted from service, and return to his work, that of superintendent of the 34th and Chandler ranch of the Southwest Cotton company. His exemption was asked on the ground that he was an expert in the growing of long staple Egyptian cotton, and in the management of a special irrigated enterprise for which he had been paid a most successful engagement. The exemption was granted by the military department, and an appeal then was made to the United States marshal general, who has given judgment for the petitioner, the Southwest Cotton company.

This company has lost about 15 of its employees through the draft, and has made only this single application for exemption.

POLICE ON INSPECTION ON JUNE 1, SAYS COMMISSION

'GRAND PASSION' AT THE WGSAM

Picturization of Hopeville, Va., Hell Hole Proves to Be Big Sensation.

When the Du Ponts created the great town of Hopeville, Va., they also gave Thomas Addison an idea for a powerful novel, in the opinion of many critics who have made a study of the author's story, "The Boss of Powderville," which attracted widespread attention in "Adventure" magazine.

The picturization of Hopeville is history. The Du Ponts decided never to rebuild, and if conditions there were as bad as they are depicted in "The Boss of Powderville," it is small wonder that the great powder magnates were content to let well enough alone.

"The Boss of Powderville" has been screened by Jewel Productions, Inc., under the title of "The Grand Passion," and in the production Hopeville lives again in startling reality. The overcast sky, the background of sinister hills and the terror of the night is all carefully registered on the screen. Night photography carefully planned creates an atmosphere which is fascinating.

The camera fairly radiates the spirit of the original conditions "Hell Hole" and one is forced to wonder what the hereafter can hold which could be more awful than the destructions of "Death Valley."

The "Grand Passion" will be shown at the WGSAM today for the last time—Ad.

BIROC—BABY MARIE OSBORNE.

There is not a person who went to the Biroc yesterday and saw Baby Marie Osborne in the "Little Fairies" who is not insisting upon friends seeing it today. There is really something new in the picture. This famous little Biroc child star catches the military spirit, and organizes among playmates a home guard, among whom is a little insignificant trombone player, he adds considerable merit to the picture. The children carry out the military spirit in the picture in complete detail. They have a task, composed of dry goods, mounted on wheels, and a piece of stove pipe displays the means of throwing projectiles. This picture is a mixture of humor and pathos, and is one which everyone will thoroughly enjoy seeing. Shown for the last time today—Ad.

GHECIN, TODAY—WM. S. HART.

Big Bill Hart will be seen at the Ghecin today and tomorrow in "The Hell House of Alaska." This is a story of a wealthy cad who escapes on Broadway force his father to send him out to Alaska where he meets a girl in whom Hart is very much interested. Not content with the trouble his home made him find while in New York, he plays his old game with his new found toy. This situation leads to some moments that are thrillingly dramatic until the picture ends in a climax of much power.

William S. Hart is seen as a big hearted individual who is rough on the surface. A strong, virile, rugged character, such as only Hart can play. "The Hell House of Alaska" will be seen at the Ghecin today and tomorrow for the last time—Ad.

TO PLANT CASTOR BEANS ON OVERFLOW ARIZ. LAND

AFTER FLOUR 'BOOTE' EGGER'S

Grocers Hear Food Officials' Reports on Auto Loads From Las Cruces.

"Bootlegging" flour is the latest form of violation of the food administration laws, Robert Dornhecker, food inspector, told the Retail Grocers' association Wednesday night at their meeting at the chamber of commerce building. Automobile owners unable to buy flour in this city are going to Las Cruces and other New Mexican towns and buying flour and bringing it here, he said. C. N. Bassett, local food administrator, is going to notify the New Mexico food board of this violation and it is believed the traffic will soon be stopped.

It was reported at the meeting that Mr. Bassett would leave this afternoon for El Paso, Texas, where he is to have an important conference with E. A. Peden, state food administrator. He is expected to return Saturday.

Selling More Bakery Bread.
All of the bakers of this city are selling on an average of 135 loaves of bread, more each day than they were selling before the ban was placed on flour. According to a report made to the grocers, the grocers also reported that they were selling a great deal more bread than before. It was said that in some cases their sale of bread has increased 50 per cent.

Mr. Dornhecker also reported that the people were observing the food laws regarding flour and very few people were attempting to buy flour. The grocers also reported that they were abiding by the flour law in their own homes.

Reported 'Ready' Factory.
Food inspector Dornhecker reported that he had received 25 complaints regarding the sale of flour and that he had traced them all down, saying some of them were reliable, but the majority of them were "wild goose chase." Mr. Dornhecker also reported that he had found a merchant on South Station street who was selling a large amount of sugar. He questioned the merchant and made an investigation of an alleged candy factory which turned out to be a "confectionery" factory. Several dozen bricks were piled on the other in an alley near South station street and this was alleged to be a candy factory, he said.

Mexican Forgets Store Name.
Jose Chavez, a Mexican, apprehended on South Station street Monday afternoon by Mr. Dornhecker, had about 50 pounds of flour and no substitute but a small amount of oatmeal. Mr. Dornhecker said he asked the man where he had bought the flour, but he said he had forgotten the name of the store. The inspector then told him to go and find out the name of the store and leave the packages until he returned. Mr. Dornhecker said that he has been several days ago, but the Mexican has never returned with the name of the store. The flour was turned over to the customs officials.

Say People Don't Understand.
Many people in this city do not understand the law regarding the sale of flour here, it was reported at the meeting. The grocers said they have difficulty making people understand that they cannot buy flour unless on a physician's prescription and that only three pounds can then be purchased. In the case of people living too far from a bakery to obtain fresh bread daily, flour may also be sold at the rate of three pounds per person each month. The certificates from physicians for the purchase of flour must be left with the grocer, an authority for selling it, the rule specifies.

TEMPERANCE FEDERATION PLANS ARIZONA CAMPAIGN
Phoenix, Ariz., April 25.—The Arizona Temperance Federation, now in session in Phoenix, has outlined work on four important matters. It will favor the red light abatement bill, which has been "referendum" after passing the last legislature. An effort will be made to secure community to secure good men to run for office, and then to elect them. There will be a special division on law enforcement to help officials in the execution of the prohibition amendment, and there will be an organization to see that the proper consulates are made.

It is expected that the legislature will ratify the national prohibition amendment, and that the Arizona legislature will be asked to make bootlegging a felony.

$75.00 Will Be Low For An All-Wool Suit---

—Said The President Of An Eastern Clothiers' Association The Other Day

FAMILIAR as we were with the rising costs of woollens—the statement startled us.

Could it be possible that the time was foreseen when we couldn't buy an all-wool suit for less than that?

Were conditions really as critical as that? Or was this man just talking for newspaper publicity?

We asked the man in charge of our own men's clothing store.

"When will we have to pay $75 for an all-wool suit?" we asked.

"The way things are going now it won't be long," he said.

"Every day woollens are going up. Every quotation we get from manufacturers is higher. Fabrics that used to be $2 and $3 a yard are $6 and $7. Some are off the market altogether."

"I'm mighty glad we are well stocked up. We have suits in stock now that are practically off the wholesale market. We have good assortments of fine worsteds and cassimeres that can hardly be bought today."

"The sooner a man buys a suit now the better judgment he shows."

That's the situation. What does it mean to you?

Are you still hesitating or are you going to act before it is too late?

Hart Schaffner & Marx, Kuppenheimer and Rogers Peet Suits, $22.50 to $45.00. Other makes at $15 up. We particularly feature all wool worsted suits at $23.85—the best value in El Paso. —(Second Floor)
